Adoramus D-Day 75th Anniversary Concert – Sat 29th June 2019 Alban Arena
Rehearsals begin Tues 23rd April

Dear Friend,

We would love to have you sing with Adoramus for our D-Day 75th Anniversary Concert at the Alban Arena on Saturday June 29th 2019.

The concert will include the choral title theme from the film “The Longest Day” and the theme to the Band of Brothers. Other items include the “Hymn to the Fallen” by John Williams the “Agincourt song” from Walton’s Henry V suite, Vaughan Williams’ Dirge for two veterans, movements from Haydn’s Nelson Mass culminating in Elgar’s Pomp and Circumstance March No.4 I hope that’s enough to whet your appetite!!

There will be just 10 rehearsals held at Christ Church House Cockfosters starting on Tuesday 23rd April. Rehearsals start at 8pm and finish at 10pm. If you agree to sing with us the expectation will be that you can attend at least 8 rehearsals. In addition there will be a rehearsal on the afternoon of the concert which everyone must attend. There is also an expectation that everyone will attempt to sell a minimum of 2-3 tickets.

There will be a Music/Administration Charge of £50 per person unless this is your first time singing with us in which case it is free.

If you have any friends who are strong singers (particularly Tenors and Basses) could you please forward this invitation on to them?

It would be really helpful if you could reply by e-mail before Sat March 23rd so that we can compile a comprehensive list and ensure that we have enough copies for everyone. If you are replying by post or need more time to think please fill in the attached form and return it to Patience Oduro, 52 Alston Road, Upper Edmonton, London N18 2LB or e-mail her on masedchoir@adoramus.com Please copy your reply to md@adoramus.com
Any queries after March 14th will also be dealt with by her on 07904 911470
No audition is necessary for this concert.

Yours sincerely

David Hooke
MD – Adoramus
